Low Risk Strategy – Q2 2020

Investment Comment

The FTSE 100 rose +9.15%, FT World +19.92% and Govt All Stock 2.45% on a total return basis in Q2 2020 as markets staged remarkable and volatile recoveries from their end of March lows. The technology and healthcare sectors were the notable outperformers.

The enormous monetary stimulus from the Federal Reserve, in particular, as well as other major Central banks has this time been coupled with extensive fiscal support from governments, the likes of which not seen during the Global Financial Crisis of 2008-9. These powerful factors reassured investors that the financial system was not broken and the global banking sector is helping to mitigate the economic impacts instead of causing them.

Whilst prices have rallied, the UK equity market has seen dividends cut by approximately 40% with Royal Dutch Shell cutting its payout for the first time since the 2nd World War. We believe many of the cuts are prudent at this time and the gradual return of consumer spending in life after lockdown should help to bring sales, cash flow and confidence back to businesses, many of which appear materially undervalued compared to international peers.
